

“Being an A* Teacher”

A very practical and immersive day evaluating different methods of teaching, exploring assessment for learning and then cross referencing these to the latest research.

Colleagues will have the chance to try, and then evaluate, different learning methods. They will also have the opportunity to consider how they can routinely build effective and engaging learning experiences into their planning.

This course is suitable for individuals, who can then cascade their thinking, or for facilitating reflective thinking for groups of staff.

It would benefit the practice of leaders, teachers and TAs, in all Key stages and Adult Education.

Contact Noo Thinking for a no obligation, initial, exploratory conversation.
020 8123 9277
www.noothinking.co.uk
workingtogether@noothinking.co.uk

Nicole Godetz runs this course. Nicole has worked in education for over 30 years, mostly in South London; she was a head teacher for 17 years.

Nicole is currently writing a book about good, sustainable inclusive teaching.

Feedback from an INSET day Nicole ran:

“I liked being part of the practical activities that were good for us and suitable for us to use in our teaching. The day was definitely interesting and thought provoking. There was lots to think about in my own teaching. I liked watching examples of others teaching and I enjoyed listening to Nicole.”

