

Student Coaching Skills Programme

"...apocalyptic media stories about new technologies destroying work are overcooked; technology would continue to create more jobs than it destroys. The challenge would be to provide people with the right skills to prosper." Ian Stewart, Deloitte's Chief Economist in the UK, April 2018.

A huge percentage of the jobs that our children will do when they enter the world of work, have not yet been defined. Social media and digital technologies present fantastic opportunities for our pupils, but some real social challenges too.

More than ever, our children need to be emotionally resilient and intelligent, so that they will be able to successfully shake, move and morph with our exciting, yet fast changing world.

Our coaching programmes help pupils to explore their own hopes and ambitions, and support them to engage positively with their peers' aspirations too.

If we tell our pupils what to do, we create dependency. If we help them to help themselves, we unleash potential.

Let us build tomorrow successfully, together.

This programme works for whole classes or group, from upper key stage 2 through to adult education.

(We offer a self-esteem programme for younger children)

Contact Noo Thinking to discuss this, or any other training or support needs.

020 8123 9277

www.noothinking.co.uk

workingtogether@noothinking.co.

Nicole Godetz offers this coaching support. Nicole is an experienced, executive head teacher, who now runs her own consultancy company, Noo Thinking Ltd. Nicole works with individuals, schools, businesses and organisations, supporting the implementation of effective work and change management processes. She is an experienced consultant, coach, mentor, trainer and mediator.

Feedback received from training delivered by Nicole: "The day met all the outlines mentioned in the beginning of the morning. The trainer was very engaging and encouraged a lot of reflective thinking!"

