

Maximising the positive impact of your Mentors

Mentors play a critical role in helping induction, training and development. Have you thought about the induction, training and development of your mentors? We can only effectively support others if we have the necessary skills needed ourselves.

Experience alone does not make an effective mentor.

Investment in time and training for mentors is crucial for a return on the investment of their time, for them and those who they are mentoring.

Would you like to improve induction and retention, and reduce turnover, of good staff?

Would you like help in identifying staff who could be good mentors and training them to be effective in that role?

If you want to attract and keep top talent, contact Noo Thinking for a no obligation, initial, exploratory conversation.

0775 4044 373

www.noothinking.co.uk

workingtogether@noothinking.co.uk

Nicole Godetz runs the course. Nicole has worked in senior leadership for over 20 years.

Nicole has an excellent record of accomplishment for training, supporting and developing mentors.

As director of Noo Thinking, Nicole works with a range of sectors; including private, commercial, education and voluntary.

Nicole is experienced and successful in helping organisations to plan and embed strategies to achieve a talented, engaged and productive workforce.

